GALENA GIVEN '32 CONVENTION WOMEN'S CLUBS

Final Sessions of Annual Meeting Held Here Yesterday

The second, and final, day of the convention for the thirteenth district of the Illinois Federated Women's Clubs, held Thursday and Friday in this city, was characterized by the same interest and enthusiasm, which marked the opening sessions. The convention has been exceptionally well attended, with all the meetings harmonious and enjoyable.

Morning Session
The program started promptly at nine o'clock with music by Mrs. Willis Fahmney of Polo, accompanied by Mrs. M. L. Davies of Dixon. Mrs. Fahmney is district chairman of music.

After the necessary business, consisting of various officers' reports, the meeting was turned over to Mrs. Florence Stroh of Stillman Valley, who conducted a fifteen minute institute.

Mrs. Stroh presented Mrs. Margaret Johnston of Chana and Mrs. D. L. Brahmam of Amboy, who spoke on "Planning the Yearly Program," and "Club Ethics," respectively. Both talks were most helpful and were enthusiastically received.

Miss Hazard Spoke

The address of the morning was given by Miss Helen Hazard, superintendent of the Illinois Women's State Reformatory at Dwight, Ill. Miss Hazard spoke on the types of individuals found in penal institutions and the kind of methods of discipline or reform applied to enable these unfortunate women to readjust their mode of living, thus making their period of sentence one of correction rather than one of merely "serving time."

Miss Hazard gave example after example showing where the crimes for which these girls were sentenced were natural results of environment, lack of home training or of no home at all, and a general indifference of society until the individual committed a serious wrong.

The complete mastery of her subject, the clean-cut manner of delivery and the idealistic but practical and human manner in which she deals with these supposedly incorrigibles endeared her to the group of women whom she addressed.

Her ingenious manner of handling so broad a subject was most refreshing and she fully convinced her audience of the great importance of good reading material on the home. She closed her talk with the poem which received second place in the state poetry contest sponsored by her department in 1929.

Afternoon Session
The afternoon session was opened by the singing of a delightful group of songs by Mrs. Wilson Dygart, accompanied by Mrs. M. L. Davies.

The district president, Mrs. H. R. Dry, then presented Mrs. J. H. Jackson of Chicago, state chairman of literature and library extension work, who lectured ably on "Literature in the Home."

Mrs. Jackson's subject was of exceptional interest to mothers and her splendid literary background, keen sense of humor, deep appreciation of the child's and parents' points of view make an ideal combination for a club leader.

Officers Elected
The district officers for the coming year were then presented: Mrs. A. R. Dry succeeds herself as president.

Mrs. W. E. Eaton, Stockton, first vice president.
Secretary to vice president—Mrs. Oscar Daehler, Chadwick.

Recording secretary—Mrs. B. M. Frary, Prophetstown.
Corresponding secretary—Mrs. James Ligen, Freeport.

Treasurer—Mrs. George Grieve, Rochelle.
Parliamentarian—Mrs. J. M. Heald, Byron.

Mrs. A. R. Dry then expressed her appreciation to Mrs. E. H. Prince and Mrs. Wilbur Hart, president and vice president respectively of the two hostess clubs, the Dixon Woman's Club and the Phidian Art Club, for the hospitality extended. She also acknowledged the efficient work of Mrs. L. N. Deutsch, program chairman for the two day sessions.

Mrs. Dry is a well poised presiding officer and the very apparent calm and harmony, which marked this district convention, was largely due to her executive ability, and also to the untiring work of the Dixon club officers and chairmen.

Next Convention in Galena
Mrs. W. A. Stephenson, president of the Fortnightly Club of Galena extended an invitation to the members of the district to hold their next convention in that city. The (Continued on Page 2)

SENT TO STATE FARM FOR THEFT OF A SWEATER

Young Transient Fails To Appreciate Good Treatment Here

Lee Bangle, 21-year-old transient of Waukesha, Wis., applied at the city jail for lodging Thursday night and was accommodated. Friday morning he was given employment at a down town market, cleaning up the premises, for which he was paid. Upon leaving the place, Bangle is said to have picked up a sweater belonging to one of the employees.

The theft of the sweater was reported to the police at noon yesterday and one of the officers found Bangle in the "hobo" camp south of the city, wearing the stolen garment. He was arrested and taken back to the city jail. An information charging larceny was filed in the county court late yesterday afternoon, and this morning Judge Leech sentenced him to serve 90 days at the state work farm at Vandallia.

Fred Kessel of Amboy, who has been in jail for several weeks and who refused to plead guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct, was sentenced to 30 days at the state work farm at Vandallia. Kessel was arrested several weeks ago with three others following what was purported to have been a drunken orgy in Amboy.

Brooks Forbidden To Sign Diplomas

Waco, Tex., May 9—(AP)—Physicians have forbidden Dr. S. P. Brooks, for more than 20 years president of Baylor University, to complete his farewell to the student body, the signing of diplomas for this year's graduating class.

An abdominal ailment is expected to prove fatal to the veteran educator before commencement. Diplomas for 398 seniors were taken this week to his hospital room and Dr. Brooks attempted to affix his signature.

Wednesday and Thursday he signed 230. Yesterday physicians, who said his condition was unchanged, decided the strain of his self imposed task was too great, and forbade the signature of the remaining 168 diplomas.

GIRL IN CHURCH PLAY CAST WAS KILLED BY SHOT

Quincy M. E. Church Is Scene Of Accidental Tragedy

BULLETIN

Quincy, Ill., May 9—(UP)—Declaring he had "forgotten" he had placed a real bullet in a revolver which was accidentally discharged and killed Miss Mildred Hughes, 19, as she and others were waiting in the Grace Methodist Episcopal church here last night to start rehearsal of a play, Arthur Weisenberger, 16, today cleared what at first was thought to be developing into a possible murder mystery.

Quincy, Ill., May 9—(UP)—A state play mystery, "The Jade God," had been turned into a mystery of real life today following the accidental fatal shooting here last night of Miss Mildred Hughes, 19, by Robert Randall, as they and thirteen other characters in the play were about to start rehearsal at the Grace Methodist Episcopal church, which was to have sponsored the drama.

The play mystery was turned into a real mystery by the fact that the gun which contained the bullet causing Miss Hughes' death was not supposed to have been loaded, that only blanks were used in the play and also because no one could be found who would admit placing the single bullet in the gun.

According to members of the cast they were standing in one of the rooms of the church waiting for the rehearsal to start when Randall, a 19-year-old student, who is the villain in the play, started examining one of the two revolvers used in the show, when it was suddenly discharged. Miss Hughes was talking to another member of the cast and the bullet struck her in the heart, passing through her body and grazing the arm of Ralph Vincent, another of the amateur actors.

Died Instantly

Miss Hughes died instantly and Vincent was given first aid.

Randall and Arthur Weisenberger, 19, also a student, and owner of the two revolvers, were ordered held for the inquest which will be called this afternoon.

Questioned by police and Coroner Louis Felsner, Randall, Weisenberger and the other members of the cast denied knowing the gun was loaded. They were unable to explain the presence of the real bullet in one of the revolvers. Examination disclosed the other pistol was empty and that there were no other bullets in the one discharged by Randall.

"I just didn't know the gun was loaded," Randall told the Coroner. "I feel terrible over it. I can't understand how that bullet got into the revolver. Both pistols were supposed to be empty, they being broken after each rehearsal."

Believed Accidental

Weisenberger who supplied the play management with the revolvers also said he thought the revolvers were unloaded.

Miss Hughes, who was employed as a stenographer in an insurance office here and whose father is a machinist, acted the part of a maid in the play and much of it revolved about her but at no time, it was said, was a gun pointed at her.

Both revolvers were employed in the play with one blank shot fired from each.

Coroner Perlmer told the United Press today that he planned to question each member of the cast relative to any knowledge as to the presence of a real bullet in the gun.

Both Perlmer and police believe that Randall's shooting of Miss Hughes was accidental but desire to know who placed the real bullet in the revolver set off by Randall and for what purpose.

Contracts Opened For Two Road Jobs

Contracts for two extensive road improvement programs in the east end of the county were opened yesterday afternoon at the office of County Superintendent Fred W. Leake. Alto and Viola townships, where special gravel bond issues were voted, received bids for the work.

Alto township's bond issue was for $15,000 and Contractor Larson of Rochelle, who submitted an alternate bid, was low. The contract was not finally entered into.

Viola township's bond issue for $35,000 for the improvement of roads with gravel was considered yesterday afternoon. Contractor C. E. Nelson of Rockford was awarded the contract in the sum of approximately $17,000. In both instances the townships will furnish the material to the contractor, who will construct the roads.

TRACK MEET IS ON

A band of 175 athletes from 22 northwestern Illinois high schools braved the chill winds which swept over the north side athletic field today in the annual sectional track and field meet. Despite the chill and the wind, the entrants made some very good marks in the preliminaries which occupied the entire morning.

The weather kept away many of the delegations of students who had planned to accompany their squads to the meet.

The finals were scheduled to start promptly at 2 o'clock this afternoon with Glen Thielthwaite, football coach of the University of Wisconsin at Madison officiating as referee and starter. The program was so arranged that there were no delays between track and field events and it was expected that the meet would be finished about 4:30. Winners of the various events will be eligible to compete for state honors at Champaign next Friday and Saturday.

Advance New Theory In Crash Of Plane

Kansas City, Kan., May 9—(UP)—Another theory was added today to the list of explanations of the cause of the airplane crash near Bazaar, Kan., March 31 in which Knute Rockne, Notre Dame football coach and seven other men were killed.

A railroad switching crew reported an opinion that the trimotored P. Oker air liner brushed a grain elevator in leaving Kansas City, causing a structural weakness. The crew believe the wing of the airplane struck the fire escape on the Santa Fe elevator in the yards.

The men said the plane was flying so low they feared it would strike the elevator tanks, but it swerved upward. They said a dent was found in the fire escape covering which might have been caused by the tip of the wing.

The men said the widespread difference of opinion as to the cause of the crash caused them to hesitate to report what they believed they saw.

Abandon Hope For Famous Scientist

Pasadena, Calif., May 9—(UP)—The tenacity with which Dr. Albert A. Michelson, veteran scientist, clung to life today surprised his physicians, who, nevertheless, declared they did not expect him to recover consciousness.

Stricken more than a month ago by a paralytic attack, Dr. Michelson lapsed into a coma Thursday night and his death has been expected hourly since that time.

FIGHT ON STATE INCOME TAX ACT IS IN PROSPECT

Powerful Lobbies Will Measure Strength In Lower House

By AUBREY CRIBB

Springfield, Ill., May 9—(AP)—Powerful lobbies will measure strength in the House of Representatives next Tuesday when the Revenue committee decides between an income tax in Illinois and a Constitutional convention.

Already passed in the Senate by a vote of 21 to 18, the income tax bill has the support of the organized farmers of the state, represented by the Illinois Agricultural Association lobby, but against it are the equally influential lobbies of "The Civic Federation" an organization of Illinois taxpayers and the Illinois Manufacturers' Association.

Every resident of Illinois would be taxed from 1 to 6 per cent on incomes, under terms of the bill, producing approximately $30,000,000 in lieu of taxes on real estate. Single persons would be exempted $1,000, married persons $2,000 with $500 additional for each child under eighteen or other dependent.

Tax rates would be one per cent on the first $2,000, two per cent on the next $3,000, three per cent on the next $5,000, four per cent on the next $5,000, five per cent on the next $10,000 and six per cent on incomes in excess of $25,000.

Opponents Claims

Questioning the constitutionality of such a bill, the Civic Federation, which reflects the opinion on this bill of most Chicago legislators, charges that the income act "is a tax in addition to all other taxes, and is not, as it should be, a substitute for the personal property tax."

"This bill," the Federation urges further, "should be defeated and a resolution for the calling of a constitutional convention should be submitted by the legislature as a substitute, because an income tax cannot be substituted for the personal property tax without amending four sections of the revenue article of the state constitution."

It was also charged by the Federation that the tax "cannot be apportioned to local governments in any degree without changing at least one other section of the revenue article, therefore income tax revenues cannot be used for relief of local as well as state taxes unless and until the constitution is changed."

Form of Farm Relief

Farmers on the other hand are fighting for the income tax on the ground it will be a form of "farm relief" from real estate taxes, and will make possible taxing intangible property such as stocks and bonds, which today largely escape taxation.

In the Senate next week the big fight will wage over the three cent gasoline tax, where administration is providing for state construction of city streets used as state highways will be called on second reading.

Both Sen. Courtney, Republican, Chicago, and Sen. V. P. Michel, Republican, Peoria, are ready to oppose extension of state control of traffic on city streets, in the way of forbidding parking. Attempts will also be made for further exemption from the gasoline tax. Sen. Kessinger, Republican, Aurora, has proposed that automobiles which do not use the state highways be entirely exempted from the three cent tax.

The Senate has already passed a bill exempting city buses.

Labor's two bills, increasing the workmen's compensation and providing an eight hour work day for women, are still pending. The eight hour day for women is on the Senate calendar ready for a roll call when the Illinois Federation of Labor gives the word, and the workmen's compensation act is in committee in the house.

Another vote is in prospect on the Illinois drivers' license bill, which was defeated in the Senate but is back on the calendar for reconsideration.

Advance New Theory In Crash Of Plane

ATLANTIC COAST UNDER BLANKET OF HEAVY FOG

Shipping Is At Standstill: One Marine Crash Reported

BULLETIN

New York, May 9—(AP)—Ten million dollars worth of gold was fog-bound at the entrance to New York harbor today. It was shipped from Buenos Aires banks to New York banks on the liner Southern Prince which was due to dock yesterday afternoon. Experts estimated the shipping banks would lose $500 to $600 interest by the delay.

New York, May 9—(UP)—An impenetrable fog, the worst in more than a year, enveloped the North Atlantic coast today bringing shipping almost to a standstill and causing at least one Marine accident.

The fog blanketed the entire New Jersey coast and reached as far north as Boston. Automobile and railway traffic was seriously affected and no large ships were moved in New York harbor.

Coast Guardsmen and Marine police were searching Norton-point, near Seagate, N. Y., for a mysterious ship, apparently in distress. Residents near the shore said a whistle had been sounded at regular intervals since 4 A. M. They said the whistle sounded like that on a large liner.

Three vessels were sent to the scene but the long blasts had stopped when they arrived.

The only collision reported was that of the Lloyd Sabaud liner Conte Biancamano and the Furness liner Eastern Prince, off Ambrose Lightship. Neither liner was seriously damaged.

The liner Rotterdam, according to reports from Quarantine, was the only vessel to succeed in penetrating the fog since early last night and was outboard for Europe after getting away from its pier late.

SAILORS WON BATTLE WITH FIRE AT SEA

One Of Tanker's Crew Lost At Sea During Struggle

New York, May 9—(UP)—The tanker Ruth Kellogg, in which 34 men battled a roaring oil fire at sea for three hours, resumed its northern voyage today with one man lost overboard and another seriously injured.

The injured man was taken aboard the tanker John D. Archbold, which subsequently broadcast an appeal for aid. The United Fruit liner Ulla turned from its course and took the man aboard. The man died last night and was buried at sea this morning. None of the advices reaching here gave his name.

The Ruth Kellogg was about 190 miles east of Savannah, Ga., when it sent out the first SOS. Immediately after the distress signals a message was relayed which stated "Fire has broken out in No. 2 hold. Lowering boats now." Another message indicated the crew was fighting to quench the flames. Officials here said all vessels of the Kellogg line are equipped with special steam fire-fighting apparatus for smothering oil fires.

In the meantime, the John D. Archbold of the Standard Shipping Corporation had picked up the distress calls and changed its course to aid the burning ship. Three hours later a wireless message said the blaze had been extinguished and that the Ruth Kellogg was proceeding to New York.

Condition Of Capt. Dollar Is Improved

San Rafael, Calif., May 9—(UP)—The condition of Captain Robert Dollar, veteran Pacific coast shipping magnate, who is seriously ill at his home here, was reported slightly improved today.

Dr. Rafael Duffley made the report after accompanying a morning visit to the patient.

Captain Dollar spent a comfortable night after witnessing from an adjoining room a party that he insisted be held despite his illness. The affair was in honor of Rev. and Mrs. Ray C. Smith of the First Presbyterian church here, of which Captain Dollar is a member.

The pastor and other church members wanted to cancel the party but Capt. Dollar would not permit it.

Two Tramps Killed In Chicago Today

Chicago, May 9—(UP)—Two men stealing a ride on top of an Illinois Central freight train were killed today when the train passed through a viaduct crushing their bodies.

The older man, believed about 30, was identified as Russell Jackson, Chicago. His body was found on the rear section of the train as it pulled into the I. C. yards.

The first section of the train, bearing the body of the other man, was switched off south of the yards.

SIX DESPERADOES CAPTURED IN EAST ST LOUIS LAST EVE, CONVOYED UNDER HEAVY GUARD

Officer Hal Roberts of Dixon And His Chief, Sergeant Oliver Kempster, of Sterling, Had Hand In Their Capture

Six desperadoes, accused among many crimes, of the largest bank robbery in the country's history, passed through Dixon this afternoon, accompanied by federal, state and local authorities, enroute from East St. Louis where they were taken last night in a raid, to Sterling. This evening they will be taken through Dixon again, on their way from Sterling to Chicago.

State Highway Officer Hal Roberts of this city and Sergeant Oliver Kempster of Sterling were members of the force of officers who captured the desperadoes last night, having been assigned to this particular case for several weeks. Officer Roberts has been associated with Sergeant Cussick of Chicago for several weeks in tracing down the hiding place of the gang.

It was reported today that some of the members of the gang had been instigators of a plan several weeks ago to rob one of the local banks and at that time, were encamped in a Freeport "speak-easy."

BULLETIN

Sterling, Ill., May 9—(UP)—Warrants for six gangsters captured in an East St. Louis, Ill., raid were issued today by Justice of the Peace W. E. Stoeckle, pending the arrival of state outlaws and their police convoy from Springfield.

One warrant named Thomas O'Connor and five were "John Doe" warrants. All were sworn out by Sgt. Oliver "Buck" Kempster and charged the men with the robbery of the Lincoln National & Trust Bank of Lincoln, Neb., of $25,000 in cash and $2,500 in securities on Sept. 17, 1930.

Officials of the Nebraska bank were expected in Sterling shortly before the arrival of the bandits.

Chicago, May 9—(AP)—Six desperadoes, accused of the nation's largest bank robbery, sped over northern Illinois highways today manacled and guarded by a heavy force of state police.

Headed for Sterling, Ill., where they were to be served with warrants charging them with the $28,000 robbery of the Lincoln National Bank, last year were Tommy Hayes, Thomas O'Connor, Jack Britt, E. Hawks, Howard Lee, and William McQuillan, arrested at East St. Louis, last night by a combined squad of federal, state and local police.

The motor caravan headed north from Springfield after spending the night here. Seven cars carried the six prisoners and highway policemen selected for their marksmanship.

Heavily Guarded
State Police Chief Walter Moody said the heavily armed guard which he headed was composed of ex-service men who "know when to shoot and how to shoot."

"I'm going to take them to Sterling over the main highways of the state," he said. "If their pals want to attempt to rescue them, let them try."

At Sterling six warrants were sworn out charging "robbery with a gun" of the Lincoln bank and the men were to be given a hearing immediately after their arrival. Five of the warrants, sworn out by Oliver Kempster, Sergeant of the state police, named "John Doe." The other was issued for Tommy Pat Connor.

The warrants charged robbery of $25,000 in cash and securities worth $2,500,000.

Loot Was $2,800,000

In Chicago attorney Emory Smith, representing Nebraska authorities said the Lincoln robbery was "the largest ever perpetrated in the United States." The loot amounted to $2,800,000, he said. Previous estimates had been about $1,000,000.

Although the men supposed to be the remnants of the Cuckoo and Fred Burke gangs, were said by their captors to be suspects in at least 60 other bank robberies and numerous kidnappings and killings, the Lincoln robbery was the first to be brought up against them.

Illinois Bankers Association officials, cooperating with Nebraska authorities, went to Sterling to attend the hearing.

PASS THROUGH DIXON

Springfield, Ill., May 9—(AP)—Seven automobiles left here for Sterling, Ill., at 9:15 o'clock this morning with six alleged kidnapers and bank robbers taken in a raid at East St. Louis, Illinois yesterday. Police officers accompanying the desperadoes expected to make the 180 miles trip to Sterling by 3 p. m.

They will take route 4 to Normal, route 2 to Dixon and route 6 into Sterling, as outlined by Chief Walter Moody of the state highway patrol, who rode the last of the seven cars, in charge of the escort. It was a return trip for Moody, who accompanied Governor L. L. Emmerson to Sterling last night, where the Governor dedicated the city coliseum issuing an ominous warning to racketeers that "the day of house cleaning, long deferred, is at hand."

Two cars of police headed the group, followed by three which had two gangsters occupants in the front seat, with police armed with machine guns at their backs. Two cars more of highway police brought up the rear.

Proud of His Force

Moody took pride at the start in pointing out members of his highway police staff, giving assurance that the trip will be made under ample protection. "Nearly all of them are ex-Army men, ex-Sergeants and Top Sergeants of regular army and ex-officers," he said. "Men who know when and how to shoot."

REVOLT WAS NIPPED
Athens, Greece, May 9—(UP)—An airplane flying low over the capital was to have been the signal for a Greek revolutionary outbreak yesterday, the Ministry of Interior announced today in making public details of the plot.

It was charged that Gen. Theodoros Pangalos, who was Dictator for a few months in 1925 after an armed coup d'etat, had sponsored the insurgent plot.

The Ministry learned in advance of the plan and sent a government airplane over his capital to give a false signal to the revolutionaries. When the signal was given hundreds of police who had been concealed nearby surrounded the Place Concord and seized the insurgents, who had started a riotous demonstration.

Kirkland Trial Is Recessed By Judge

Valparaiso, Ind., May 9—(UP)—The Virgil Kirkland murder trial was recessed today while Sheriff Burney Maxwell went out on the streets to recruit disinterested persons willing to sit in judgment of the 20-year-old Gary athlete charged with the death of his sweetheart, Arlene Draves, 18.

The drastic measure, unprecedented in this district, was ordered by Judge Grant Crumacker after the fifth special venire had been exhausted and only nine jurors tentatively selected. The trial, which is Kirkland's second, has been in progress nearly two weeks, during which time more than 200 men and women have been questioned for jury duty.

The first trial resulted in a life sentence for the youth.

Wary of the endless questioning, Judge Crumacker late yesterday ordered Maxwell to "go out on the streets of Valparaiso and pick up every able bodied man and woman under 60 willing to serve on the jury." Attorneys expect that the jury will be completed from the group which Maxwell will present Monday.

Miss Draves died after a liquor party in Gary and the state charges her death resulted from a criminal attack committed by Kirkland.

The trial was granted on pleas of defense attorneys that they would submit new evidence tending to show that the girl died after being hit by a bottle in the hands of an intoxicated woman.

Quincy Fairgrounds Scene Of Bad Fire

Quincy, Ill., May 9—(AP)—Fire early today destroyed the exhibition and dance hall at Baldwin Park fairgrounds, located on a hilltop east of the city. The building was one of the most historic in western Illinois.

Part of the place was the original there invented the parachute and shop of Major Tom Baldwin, who many balloons. Another part was served as the stable of the Illinois state fair when it was held here in 1890.

Major Baldwin bought the park and buildings 43 years ago. The place was willed to his son, Tom Baldwin, Jr., but is in litigation as a result of his wife's recently obtained divorce.

For years the property was used as the Adams county fairgrounds, but the lease expired last year, and the association had not renewed it.

All available fire apparatus was concentrated on raising the water 50 feet to reach the fire and to keep flying sparks from setting fire to the grandstand, the Baldwin home and the stables, which housed about 25 show and race horses.

Ousted Bishop To Ask Reinstatement

Gallion, O., May 9—(AP)—Secluded from all but a few of his fellow townsmen in his 10-room house where he lives with his wife and writes prolifically for the cause of labor, the Rev. William Montgomery Brown, 74, plans another attempt to free himself of the stigma of heresy.

He is going before the House of Bishops of the Protestant Episcopal church next October to ask acceptance into their fold for the rest of his declining years. He wants to be reinstated, yet still adhere to his liberal views on such subjects as evolution, creation and divinity.

Since he was expelled and the title of bishop taken from him seven years ago, he has written a half dozen books for the cause of labor. He plans two more. In addition, he writes numerous articles for labor magazines.

As retired Bishop of Arkansas, he was brought to trial for heresy shortly after he published his book, "Communism and Christianity." He was the first bishop in America to be convicted of heresy.

He appealed to the Court of Review of the church, but the conviction was upheld. Despite the conviction he maintains his right to retain the title of "Bishop" with the belief that once a man is consecrated no one can take the title from him.

Plot To Murder King Carol Foiled

Bucharest, Rumania, May 9—(AP)—The police were reported today to have uncovered a plot to assassinate King Carol tomorrow on the occasion of the fiftieth anniversary of the enthronement of Carol I.

Although the police issued an unqualified denial, the report was to the effect that authorities had arrested an individual who had concealed under the stands from which King Carol and the royal family planned to watch the military parade. He was reported to have been armed with a loaded revolver.

Tilden Vs Richards At Garden This Eve

New York, May 9—(AP)—Big Bill Tilden and Vincent Richards, closely-matched rivals in their amateur days, clash in the first of five professional contests in Madison Square Garden tonight under the banner of Jack Turley.

The match, best three out of five sets, brings together two of the best for the first time since 1926 when Richards beat the tall Philadelphiaian in three out of five matches. Richards has been given a $25,000 guarantee while Tilden is taking a percentage of the gate receipts.

The winner of the series has been promised, in addition, a purse of $10,000.

Tilden got all the practice he needed in a nation-wide tour with Karel Kozeluh in which he trounced the Czechoslovakian ace with monotonous regularity. Richards, on the other hand, has had no professional competition since he defeated Kozeluh as American pro champion last fall. He has played only amateur stars in the last few weeks.

The Tilden-Richards match at 9:30 (EDT) will be preceded by a match between Frank Hunter and Emmet Pare. A doubles match pitting Hunter and Tilden against Richards and Pare also is on the program.

INTERNATIONAL C. CONVENTION IS CLOSED TODAY

A Five-Pointed Major Resolution Adopted As World's Program

By D. HAROLD OLIVER

Washington, May 9—(AP)—A new set of principles for business leaders to follow in furthering world economic recovery was defined today by the International Chamber of Commerce in closing a week of discussion of business difficulties.

A five-pointed major resolution, one of more than 40 adopted, reaffirmed the organization's position that war debts should be open to re-examination if found justified on the basis of changed economic trends, and called for further reduction of armaments to relieve a "heavy tax burden."

Removal of tariff discriminations and inequities, continuance of private initiative and private operation of business, and economy in national budgets.

Another resolution approved urged an international conference looking toward stabilization of silver values.

As for unemployment, the Chamber called on the Bank of International Settlements and similar institutions to lend their aid to increase the "mobility of accumulated capital."

Advance planning was urged, as well as relief plans "consistent with sound economic principles so as to avoid excessive drain on national income and to refrain from restricting the mobility of labor and industry."

On agriculture, the Chamber recommended further international conferences with special attention to extent, direction and distribution of production, financing of crops, appropriation of credits, and amendment of "rigorous agricultural protective measures, reduction of difficulties in importing agricultural products and suppression of export premiums."

Willis H. Booth, New York banker, seconding the major resolution entitled "Restoration of International Trade," said the American delegation had never opposed the suggestion that any nation should "feel free to ask a re-examination" of the war debts "on the basis of the underlying principles upon which they have been settled."

Asking redoubting of efforts by world powers to reduce armaments, the Chamber followed the course recommended by President Hoover in opening the convention.

Before the adjournment it heard a radio address from Berlin by Franz von Mendelssohn, new president of the organization. He stressed the economic interdependence of the world in the present "crisis."

Long Skirt Decree of Fashion Hits Snag in Britain

London, May 8—(UP)—Fashion has decreed long skirts, but common sense demands short ones.
Such is the gist of a resolution passed recently by a meeting of the National Union of Societies for Equal Citizenship, a title which indicates its complete femininity.
The resolution deplored the return of long skirts as a reaction against the personal comforts and physical liberty of women, reminiscent of the years of their political disenfranchisement. It called upon all women who valued such liberty to resist this reaction by refusing to follow the arbitrary decrees of fashion.

Mrs. M. Stocks of Manchester, who introduced the resolution, maintained that a person's actions and mentality were affected by the clothes she wore and the coincidence between the freeing of women in politics was really no coincidence at all.

NEW YACHTING WEAR HAS PATRIOTIC TOUCH

Paris—(AP)—The French tri-color and the American flag have offered inspiration for the last word in feminine yachting costumes.
White flannel skirts and brass-buttoned blue jackets have given way to jaunty pajamas of red, white and blue.
One of the newest yachting suits, with trousers as full and long as an evening skirt, has dark blue pajamas and a white basque belted with a red cord.

SLEEVES LEND DIVERSITY TO NEW SEASON'S MODE

Bell Shapes and Side Flares Are In Vogue

Sleeves tell the world that gowns are new chic this spring. Left: The evening ensemble of Patou green billis has great sleeve puffs starting above the elbow and drawn into a wristlet of the same material finely pleated. Light brown dull-surfaced belt and flower contrast beautifully with the ensemble's green. Right: A finely pleated frill outlines the below-the-elbow sleeve fullness of this black and white polka dotted dress from Jean Patou, and runs down the outside of the sleeve fullness as well as outlines the one-sided rever collar and the skirt's hem.

News of Horace Ort Auxiliary, No. 540 Here Is Recorded

Horace F. Ort Auxiliary No. 540, Veterans of Foreign Wars, held their regular meeting last evening in G. A. R. hall with a good attendance despite the inclement weather. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. Official communications were read and letters of thanks from the hospitals for donations sent. A report of the hard times party which they recently held in Union Hall was given. The costumes worn, representing from the time of Methuselah on were well worth the small admission fee. Prizes were awarded Mrs. C. Gonnerman and L. Stafford. Square dances were the main feature. Then there was the Gypsy fortune teller, decked in all her glory. No Gypsy queen could have a more complete costume.

All went home at the midnight hour, a tired but happy crowd thanking the public for their cooperation. The Auxiliary will have a special meeting at Grand Detour this coming Wednesday night, at the home of Elizabeth Portner. This is very important, so be there. Refreshments will be served to which the post is invited. An old-time spelling bee will be part of the evening's entertainment, so bring your spelling ability. A prize will be offered to the one holding the quilt the longest. Chances on the quilt to be disposed of June 12 were passed around. The quilt is displayed in the Dixon Cleaners' window. Several members are planning a trip to the Hines hospital in the near future with a supply of carpet rags, silk stockings, spools, etc. Any Auxiliary members wishing to go, call K1229.

The meeting used in regular form to meet again May 22. Everyone is enthused over the convention to be held at Rockford, where we all may attend. The convention is to be held June 18.

A HEALTHIER LIFE.

One of the favorite dreams of this scientific age has been that human life, at some time in the near future, will be measurably lengthened. The "average life span" that we hear so much about has been stretched in the last generation or so; most of us have a lurking hope that it will eventually go far beyond the scriptural three score and ten.

However, the experts on such matters are a bit dubious about it. There is, for example, Lee K. Frankel of the Metropolitan Life Insurance, who told the American Philosophical Society recently that the actual number of years which an individual can attain will probably never be much greater than it is now.

Still, Mr. Frankel is an optimist. Human beings of the future may not live much longer than human beings of today, but he believes they will be a great deal healthier. They will support fewer hospitals and orphan asylums, and their doctors will be busier preventing disease than curing it.

And this, after all, is about all that any sensible man would hope for. The yearning for everlasting life seems to be one of mankind's fundamental traits, but it is always assumed that immortality will be enjoyed in another world than this. The earth has too many imperfections. Few people care to linger on it indefinitely.

But the mere length, in years, of one's earthly existence is not a prime consideration. Whether we are to have 50 years or twice 50, the most important question is, what are those going to be like? In promising better health for our grandchildren, Mr. Frankel holds up a brighter picture than would be the case if he simply promised longer life.

To have life and to have it more abundantly has always been the race's greatest earthly hope. It is back of every great migration of massed tribes and nations, back of every revolution, back of many bloody wars; the hope that somehow something can be done to make the ordinary man's existence a little bit less bare, a little bit more full of those moments of contentment, of ecstasy or of achievement that give it significance.

With that goal mere length of days has little to do. We need not be disappointed if science finds itself unable to promise a longer life. It is promising a better one—a life more free from pain, a life in which men can more fully use the powers that are in them. That is enough. We would be foolish to ask for more.

THE "CLINGING VINES" STAND ALONE.

The belief that women are necessarily weaker than men is being effectively blasted by the athletic activities of the modern miss. It seems not unreasonable to predict that the time will come when women will meet on an equal basis, and stand a good chance of winning.

When that time arrives the ideal of equality which women have demanded during the past two decades will become reality. The last barrier will be removed.

This spring two lusty young women have been signed by professional baseball teams. The skeptic says it was for publicity. Be that as it may, it is admittedly true that there are some surprisingly good women ball players. They have shown exceptional ability in other sports, such as tennis, golf and swimming for years.

This tendency suggests interesting possibilities. Will we hear over our radios: "Susie Jones socked the apple over the fence—it's a homer!" or "Buxom Betty Brown crashed through left tackle for eight yards," or "Kid Katherine floored the Mauler with a left hook to the jaw?"

Such thoughts cause us to smile now. But remember—30 years ago we should have laughed if somebody had suggested women would beat men in golf and tennis and swimming. . . . There aren't any clinging vines any more.

The daughter of a German brewer is said to be planning a flight to the United States. Well, who should know more about hops?

Twin evils that come with the spring are usually stepping on the gas and stepping on the grass.

The cruiser Chicago is soon to be named the flagship of the U. S. fleet. On that assumption, perhaps, that the name will instill fear in the hearts of the enemy.

A University of Golf is being proposed for southern England. Courses there, naturally, will cover lots of ground.

You don't have to wear a stiff shirt, observes the office sage, to put on a front.

No one objects to the epithets of a man who swears off smoking.

Motorists may be increasing, but the pedestrian is getting along in leaps and bounds.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

As down the street the happy bunch were carried, one said, "I've a hunch that we are very heavy. Maybe two of us should walk. The two Chinese seem very strong, but we do not want to treat them wrong." Wee Scooty merely laughed and said, "My goodness, how you talk."

"Those men are used to heavy loads. Why, all day long they travel roads with chair poles on their shoulders and they do not mind one bit. As long as they don't say a thing, let's just sit right here and sing. Perhaps 'twill entertain them if our voices all are fit."

So as they traveled right along, the Tynmites broke into a song. "Hi, ho! We are having lots of fun and, too, we ride in style. This covered chair is a clever thing. It makes you feel just like a king." To see how happy they all were made both the chair men smile.

Right down one street they'd go and then, swing 'round and come right back again. Soon Coppy said, "I think that we have had our fill. It is best that we now join the Travel Man and just as quickly as we can, I'll bet you that the chair men will be glad to have a rest."

The Travel Man was shortly found. The whole bunch jumped out to the ground and Carpy cried, "Let's walk down to a stream and watch the boats. I love the water when they are loafing. 'Look at it!' cried Clowney. 'All that cane you see will come in handy as can be. 'Twill shortly all be used on chairs on which the people sit.'"

(The Tynmites help a farmer in the next story.)

RECALLS STATE'S PART IN GOLD VS. SILVER QUARRELS

A Philadelphia Educator
Addresses Illinois
Historical Soc.

Springfield, Ill., May 9.—(UP)—Dr. James A. Barnes, of Temple University, Philadelphia, last night brought to the attention of delegates to the thirty-second annual meeting of the Illinois State Historical society here the part Illinois played in the Gold Silver controversy of the late nineteenth century.

Speaking in the auditorium of the Centennial building here, Dr. Barnes said the year 1890 found Illinois seething with discontentment "Political lines were wavering, and in many states the party in power found its tenure questioned," he said.

Dr. Barnes, continuing, said: "The November ballot destroyed the already weakened power of the Republicans and for the first time since the Civil War place a Democrat in the governor's office at Springfield. He was John Altgeld. The election of this foreign born radical to the conservative, dangerous—radical to the highest gift within the power of the commonwealth was significant in Illinois politics; it marked the beginning of the actual break between the groups who came to support gold and those who rallied vigorously to the banner of silver."

"The election of Grover Cleveland to the Presidency in 1892 had much to do with the coming of the silver conflict. Cleveland was a determined gold advocate and he stoically laid aside the tariff reform plans of the party and began efforts to repeal the Sherman silver law, which he believed to be burdening the people. But the citizens of inland America were not convinced that silver coinage was responsible for their troubles."

"The West, declining to believe the reasons given by the East for repeal of the silver purchase act, insisted that the idea had been dictated solely by the Cleveland aristocracy of Wall and Lombard streets for the purpose of forcing the people of the interior to accept a standard of value which would steal from them their sustenance while it increased the wealth of the 'gold barons.' The disastrous panic of 1893 had come, the Westerners argued, because of their refusal to obey the order of the Rothschilds to stop demanding silver; they were convinced that it was a deliberate cold-blooded 'squeeze' of the people of the United States in the West and the South in order to bring them again under the domination of England. Some of the more radical demanded a new revolution of 1776."

"Illinois, with her strategic position on the new planned highway and a friendly governor, was needed for the cause."

Began in 1895

"The real fight between the gold and silver followers began early in 1895. The year opened with Governor Altgeld laboring at his desk on a biting criticism of the President of the United States; ten days later he delivered it before the legislature. The Illinois Democracy was not hesitant in declaring its financial principles. On April 4 the State Central Committee, under the leadership of W. H. Hinrichsen, Secretary of State, declared for free silver."

"Nine days after the announcement the somewhat silent and bitter struggle that had been in progress in the Democratic party since the beginning of the Cleveland administration broke into open warfare. 'Disguise it as we may,' wrote the President in a public letter to Henry S. Robbins of Chicago, 'The line of battle is drawn between the forces of safe currency and those of monometallism.' The great struggle for the control of the national convention in 1896 had begun in earnest; and Illinois, lying in the borderland and possessing forty-eight ballots, was justly regarded as a key state."

"Throughout the summer and the fall the silver mania increased; the state Democratic machine stretched out into every county, and much to the disgust of the bankers and industrialists, even reached into Chicago and took possession of the gold center."

"The gold advocate knew that if they were to stem the rising tide of free silver in the Middle West, vigorous action was necessary; realizing the importance of Illinois, they centered their activities in Chicago. Secretary treasurer, John Carlisle hurried to Chicago where, on April 15, he delivered before the workmen of that city a sound money address which Champ Clark has called 'the best single Gold Standard Speech ever heard delivered since the world began.'"

"The address undoubtedly had a great deal of influence in the city in which it was delivered, but its arguments could not appeal to the farmers down state. Kenesaw M."

Chinese Twins Seek Adoption

They're looking for some kindly Chinese couple to adopt them, although they're American citizens. In San Francisco's "Babies' Aid," Lee Sue and Toy, twin sisters, citizens by birth, haven't any daddy or mamma but they're hopeful and well-behaved. The picture proves it.

Landis wrote at the time: 'Some people may tell you this silver matter out here is not serious business when the God's truth is the Democratic party in Indiana and Illinois is wildly insane on this subject.'

"The rapid growth of free silver sentiment in Illinois brought interesting and complicated politics in the months preceding the convention in 1896. Local officials and the state machine, as was the case in many states, were in opposition to the national plans of the Democracy and the problem of the party was to secure gold-standard delegates to the national convention."

Silverites Won
The silverites won; when the convention met there was only one negative vote in the chorus of affirmative shouts. After shouting themselves hoarse, the delegates denounced the concerted movement of the plutocrats of the world to establish a single gold standard."

"Although Governor Altgeld doubted Bryan's strength as a presidential candidate the Nebraska had many friends in Illinois. In late April mimeographed copies of a letter were spread over the state that Illinois could furnish no suitable candidate, but in the person of Hon. W. J. Bryan of Nebraska, who possesses all the attributes to be desired in a Democratic president, and is with the people and for the people in their struggle for the restoration of their stolen right."

"In due time there came the 'cross of gold' and the crown of thorns, but the man of the ages was not born Minerva-lake in Illinois' great metropolis. The split in the party and the nomination of Bryan at the Democratic National convention constitutes one of the most skillfully planned and carefully executed 'accidents' in American party politics."

"Regardless of the political troubles in both the state and the nation, the great crusade got under way. The campaign centered in Ohio and upper Mississippi valleys. Bryan gave the majority of his time to these two regions and made more speeches in Illinois than in any other state."

"On election day the citizens of Illinois clearly expressed their preference for the gold standard and their disapproval of Altgeld and the Republican party returned to power again in both state and national politics."

"The grief of the midlands at the result was real; men, women and children by the thousands sent their letters to Lincoln, Nebraska. Governor Altgeld, tired and worn by the campaign, wrote the defeated candidate on November 9: 'You have done a work for humanity which time will not efface and while we were not able to batter down all the fortified strongholds of plutocracy and corruption in our flight I am convinced that another assault will drive them from the land.'"

The annual meeting of the historical society which opened this morning with a session of the Lincoln Circuit Marking Association, will be closed tomorrow afternoon with an address from Clint Clay Tilton, Danville, speaking on John W. Vance and the Vermilion Salines. A bronze bust of Mrs. Myra Bradwell, first woman lawyer of the state, will be presented. Theodore C. Biengen, of the University of Minnesota, will speak on "Leaders in American Immigration."

HOSTEL AND HOMES

"My People Shall Dwell in a Peaceable Habitation."
—Isaiah 32-18.

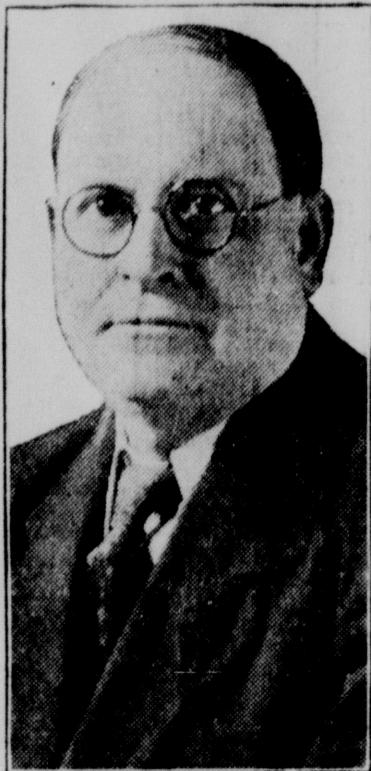

Every Christian has four dwellings. They differ greatly from each other; but they are alike in this, that they are sanctuaries and shrines of peace.

There is the soul's brief and fragile house, called by Paul, "the earthly house of this tabernacle." An earthly house because it is perishable, insecure and unstable in its substance but Christ has redeemed it and chooses it for his peaceable home. He understands from personal experience its possibilities and limitations yet He loves to dwell therein.

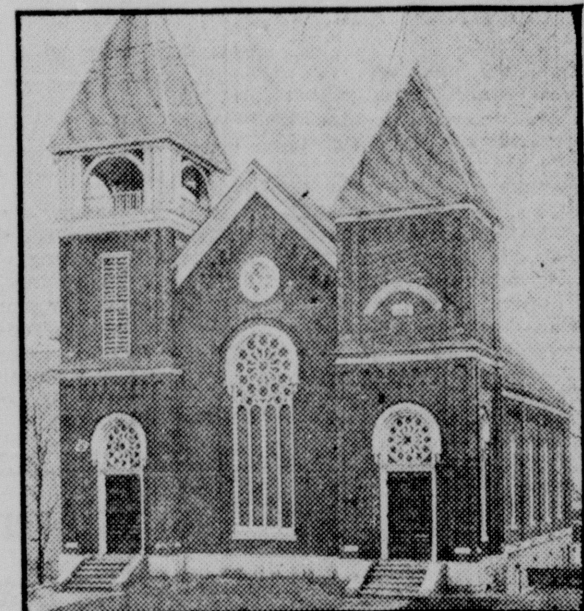

"Thou hast made the Most High thy habitation." He is our fortress that cannot be shaken. All the longings of my soul are met by Him. We can trace His step and hear His voice in every detail of our lives.

Job says: "The grave is mine house." But it is a very temporary dwelling place, only an inn on way to Heaven.

Then there is that glorious home that Christ has gone to prepare for us in the Father's House. Does this not chase away our fear and awaken our hope in that Lord whom we love. And in all these four dwellings we have the sunshine of the Divine Presence. Are they not all peaceable habitations?

BUCKY LAWLESS

STILL NEMESIS

OF THE WELTERS

Syracuse Irishman Is The Winner Over Jack Thompson

By George Kirksey
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 Chicago, May 9 (UP)—Bucky Lawless of Syracuse, N. Y., nemesis of welterweight champions, today boasted another victory over the title-holder of the 147-pound division.

By defeating Jack Thompson of California, welterweight ruler, in a 10-round non-title bout here last night, Lawless annexed his fourth decision over a reigning welterweight champion. Lawless previously had defeated Thompson, Joe Dundee and Tommy Freeman all when they held the championship.

Weighing 148 pounds, one pound over the class limit, Lawless had no chance to win the title. Thompson scaled 147. A crowd of 10,373 paid $21,980 to see the program which included three rounds of exhibition boxing by Max Schmeling of Germany, heavyweight champion.

Thompson, who won the title last year from Jackie Fields, lost it to Tommy Freeman and then won it back in the early rounds, but tired toward the end. Lawless started a rally in the sixth round and kept it up to the finish. Several times the Syracuse Irishman rocked Thompson with rights to the head. Lawless left to the face also bothered Thompson during the final rounds.

The bout was close, and the crowd, which had been against Thompson during the milling, gave him the bigger cheer when the decision was announced. The referee called the bout a draw, and the two judges voted for Lawless.

Schmeling appeared in good physical condition against two sparring partners, Pedro Lopez and Charles Wexner. Although wearing 16 ounce gloves he had Lopez groggy in the first round and floored him with a left in the third round. It was Schmeling's last public appearance before he defends his title against Young Stribling of Georgia at Cleveland July 4.

What Averages Of Big Leagues Show This Week

NATIONAL LEAGUE

New York, May 9 (AP)—With batting averages dropping rapidly toward their normal levels, Rogers Hornsby, manager of the Chicago Cubs, remains the outstanding clutch player of the National League. Wally Roettger of the Cincinnati Reds is the batting leader in the week's issues of the semi-official averages, which include Wednesday's games.

But Hornsby has gathered in a greater collection of honors. While Roettger leads with a .400 average, Hornsby is tied for second place among the regulars with him.

Bottomley of St. Louis. They have .383 averages. The Rajah also is tied for the home lead, having clouted five to share the position with Buzz Arlett of the Phillies, and tops them all in batting in runs with 18.

Under Hornsby's leadership, the Cubs lead the league in club batting and fielding. They have a batting mark of .300 and a fielding record of .986. One other Chicagoan, Woody English, also is among the first ten individual batters.

After the three leaders on this list come Davis, Philadelphia, .375; Vergez, New York, .371; Leach, New York, .358; Traynor, Pittsburgh, .346; Adams, St. Louis and Worthington, Boston, .345 and English, .344.

Bottomley has a second honor leading in hitting doubles with eight. Hughie Critz of New York has collected the most hits, total, 29, and Lloyd Waner of Pittsburgh tops the sluggers with 18 runs. Dick Bartell of Philadelphia is the only National Leaguer who has hit four triples. Base stealing honors are divided between Wally Berger of Boston and Adam Comorosky of Pittsburgh, who have copied five each.

Two New York pitchers, Fred Fitzsimmons and Clarence Mitchell, Ed Brandt of Boston and Burleigh Grimes of St. Louis share the top of the pitching list, each with four victories and no defeats.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Chicago, May 9 (AP)—The annual brief reign of rookies in the American League batting race ended during the third week of the campaign, and at the top, with a .450 average was none other than George Herman Ruth, the well-known New York Yankee cripple.

Unofficial averages, which include Wednesday's games, revealed that most of the youngsters had slipped out of the leading ten circle, and that veterans had assumed their places.

Back of the Babe, who celebrated his return to action by adding 50 points to his average, was Lew Fonseca, Cleveland Indian first baseman who won the individual title in 1929, and Al Simmons the siege gun of the champion Athletics. Fonseca gained 72 points to give him an average of .432, while Simmons slugged the pitching for an addition of 131 points and was third with .417.

Other regulars in the first ten were: Alexander, Detroit, .413; Berry, Boston, .405; Fothergill, Chicago, .400; Spencer, Washington, .384; Cechrane, Philadelphia, .383; Van Camp, Boston, .378; Stone, Detroit, .375.

While he failed to make the select leading group, Joe Cronin, Washington's shortstop, headed the field in three offensive departments. He shared the runs batted in honors with Earl Averil of Cleveland, and had 22; had hit safely 33 times, and had total bases amounting to 53.

Jonathan Stone of Detroit retained the home run leadership with five, although he failed to hit one out of the park during the week. Harry Rice, Washington outfielder, led in times with four, while the 11 doubles by Dale Alexander, Tiger first baseman, was a best mark for the period.

Base stealing honors were shared by Ben Chapman, New York; Roy Johnson, Detroit; Lou Gehrig, New York and Bill Cissell of Chicago, each of whom had swiped five. Lu Blue, had scored the most runs, 18.

Wesley Ferrell, Cleveland's great young right-hander, won another game and had the most impressive pitching record—five victories and one defeat. Clint Brown of Cleveland and Herb Pennock veteran Yankee, each had won two games without suffering defeat. Henry Johnson, another Yankee, led in strikeouts with 29 in six games, while Vic Sorrell of Detroit continued as the wild man of the league, having walked 20 batters in five games. Cleveland's collective batting average fell off 14 points to .317, but the Indians still were the only cut-nit to hit 300 or better. Washington gained a point and was second with .293. The Athletics retained their .567 fielding average and continued to lead, with Detroit second at .973. The Tigers also had clipped off 21 double plays to lead.

Baseball Gossip

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.

Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cleveland Indians, leaders of the American League, find themselves in a rather tough spot as they open their standing against the strong eastern clubs. The Indians not only have to face opposition which looks somewhat stronger than what they have met, but they have to meet it without the services of Wesley Ferrell, king-pin of their pitching staff.

Ferrell started the Boston Red Sox yesterday and retired voluntarily in the first inning after giving three doubles. He complained of a sore arm. If Ferrell remains out long, Cleveland has only Willis Hudlin who has proved reliable so far.

Brown and Harder have started regularly but seldom have finished their games. As for relief hurlers, it took three of them to stop the Red Sox yesterday and they did not succeed until Boston had put over five runs in the fourth inning to win 8 to 4.

The other game which escaped the weather in the American League yesterday created a slight disturbance in the theory that the balance of power in the circuit lies in the east. The Detroit Tigers outlasted Washington in a ten-inning mound duel.

Lloyd Brown to win 3 to 2. In the National League, two games were scheduled to wind up the intra-sectional struggles before the western teams open in the east today and one was washed out. The Brooklyn Dodgers won the other, making very good use of four hits and eight walks off Stewart Bowen to beat the Phillies 4 to 3. Bolen, start after being laid up with a hurt shoulder, was wild just when it was needed. A triple and two walks in the fourth inning filled the bases and Johnny Frederick crashed.

The Robin hurler had to give way to Jack Quinn in the ninth when the Phils got their third run but got credit for his third victory over the Quakers this year.

PECK PLANS CHANGES
 Cleveland, May 9 (AP)—Hoping to stem the ragged play of the league-leading Cleveland Indians in their last several games, Manager Roger Peckinpaugh announced shortstop Bill Hummel would be benched today in favor of Jonah Goldaman, last year's regular shortstop. Hummel has made 14 errors in 20 games and his failure to his has been a disappointment.

It was also possible that the clubbing Eddie Morgan, who lost his first base job to Lew Fonseca, would be sent to third, replacing Burnett.

YESTERDAY'S STARS
 Wilky Moore, Red Sox—Went in as relief pitcher and chucked Indians with five hits in 8 1/2 innings as Red Sox won, 8-4.

Johnny Frederick, Robins—Doubled with bases filled in fourth inning to drive in three runs and aid in defeat of Phils.

Bill Akers, Tigers—Doubled in tenth to drive in Owen with run that beat Senators, 3 to 2.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN GOULD

Yale-whisper is somewhat softly has gone in for the Notre Dame system of football in preparing this spring for the third and last season of the Abbie Boothian Era.

Not completely, however. There are a number of reservations in the full acceptance of the shift and other features of the attack modeled upon the ideas exploited by the late Kuntze Rockne—now taught at New Haven by Adam Walsh, the line coach, and Paul (Bucky) O'Connor, the substitute fullback, who raced to fame in Notre Dame's great victory over Southern California.

Yale yields its graduate coaching system reluctantly and, in a figurative sense, over the prostrate bodies of many of the Old Guard whose experiences and memories go back to the glorious days when the Blue snatched its way through all opposition by the sheer application of brute power, if nothing else.

PIONEERS WITH LATERAL—The modernization of the Ell gridiron system has been slow and at times, painful. It was a long time before Yale surrendered to the advance of the forward pass, although under Frank Hinkley the Ells were pioneers in the successful use of the lateral pass—the weapon that Harvard, by a bit of irony, turned upon the Blue with lethal effect in the past few years. The trouble with the Hinkley innovations were that once the lateral was solved, Yale had nothing to fall back on.

It has been difficult for Yale to keep in the face of extraordinary development of such football systems as those bearing the stamp of Pop Warner or Kuntze Rockne. Even many of the Old Guard have yielded. The engagement of Dr. Marvin Stevens as head coach represented a departure from time-honored custom. "Mal" was a finished football product when he came to Yale. Another radical step was taken when Adam Walsh was induced to leave Santa Clara, California, for dear old Yale. Walsh pursued his studies at New Haven, to make things congenial. Bucky O'Connor, a medical student, is doing the same thing.

HAD ANOTHER YEAR—The romantic story of Bucky O'Connor is pretty well known by this time: How he was a "shock trooper" for two years, under-study first for Marty Brill and then, by a fortuitous chain of circumstances, finally given the chance he seized to give a sensational account of himself in Notre Dame's climax game of 1930.

It is not generally known, however, that O'Connor in order to pursue his medical studies and coach at Yale gave up the chance to go back and play another year for Notre Dame.

O'Connor had one more year of varsity eligibility. At the crest, following his great work against Southern California, he would have figured to share the spotlight with Marchmont Schwartz as a ball-carrier next fall.

Rockne naturally would have welcomed a decision by Bucky to return but when the youngster talked it over with "Rock," the coach applied no pressure. Rather, he urged O'Connor to pursue the course that would mean more to him in the long run.

Ohio State To Try To Stop Illinois
 Chicago, May 9 (AP)—Ohio State today was the candidate to try to halt Illinois' first Big Ten baseball defeat of the season, in the top contest of a five-game schedule.

While the Buckeyes were attempting to crack the Illini's string of five straight triumphs, Michigan and Northwestern, the two remaining contenders for the title, were in action. The Wolverines, who yesterday virtually ruined Wisconsin's chances for retaining the championship by a 10 to 6 victory, were at Chicago today. Northwestern was out to make it two straight over Minnesota, having shut the Gophers out yesterday, 3 to 0.

Purdue was at Indiana and Iowa was at Wisconsin for the remaining games.

Schmeling Made Big Sum In Exhibitions
 Chicago, May 9 (AP)—Max Schmeling, world's heavyweight champion, was $72,000 richer today as the result of his two months exhibition tour which took him to 45 cities in the United States and Canada.

This was the sum the German earned mauling his sparring partners in three round exhibition bouts Joe Jacobs, manager of the champion, said Schmeling averaged $1500 for each of his engagements.

Schmeling wound up his tour, which started Feb. 9, in the Chicago Stadium last night. He intends to remain here until May 12 then go to Louisville to referee a boxing engagement on Derby Eve. He plans to be in his training camp at Columbus, Park, midway between Pittsburgh and Cleveland, May 20 to start training for his title engagement with Young Stribling in Cleveland July 3.

Speedboat Ahead Of River Record
 Memphis, Tenn., May 9 (AP)—Escaping the bad luck that held back the Bogie two years ago, the speedboat Greyhound today had an 11-hour lead in its race to lower the Mississippi river record from New Orleans to St. Louis.

The Greyhound, inbound cruiser owned by Frederick Smith and piloted by Harvey Brown of Memphis, slipped upstream last night through waters that in 1929 delayed the Bogie, which took its owner, Dr. Louis Leroy of Memphis, to St. Louis in 87 hours, 31 minutes to smash the record set half a century before by the steamer Robert E. Lee.

Due today at Helena, Ark. and then scheduled to speed onward to Memphis, the Greyhound was taking the night run slowly, some times averaging little more than ten miles an hour.

Indian Band Sails for Paris

The strident warwhoops of Sioux and Choctaw will assail the ancient echoes of Paris this summer when the official American Indian Band will play at the Paris International Colonial and Overseas Exposition. Photo shows Chief Two Guns (whose head adorns the Buffalo nickel) and Princess Mahleha Dawn, posed with Armand Sieper (left) general secretary of the Exposition's American Committee, and C. Bascom Slemm, U. S. Commissioner General to the Exposition, on the French Line flagship Ile de France, just before sailing.

Engine trouble, caused by the long run, bothered its crew considerably. When it paused at Rosedale, Miss., 572 miles above New Orleans, the Greyhound had been on the river 31 hours, 31 minutes. The mark was 11 hours better than Dr. Leroy's time for the distance and without straining the motor or the energies of the crew it was possible for the 23-foot cruiser to hold the lead without much difficulty.

Driftwood and a twisted propeller shaft caused a night-hour delay between Greenville and Rosedale when Dr. Leroy set his record and won the Edwin C. Koenig Cup, offered by the St. Louis Yacht Club for the best mark.

Just before he sailed for England last night, Tolley said he planned to use the new ball in the British amateur championship at Westward Ho. In general, contestants in that tournament will use the old ball.

Tolley said, however, that he had been practicing with excellent results with the new ball and that unless his changed his mind at the last moment he would play it in the championship.

Mr. I. Smith Returns from Ward Conference
 Predicting an era of greater values than ever before for shoppers at Ward's Dixon store, I. Smith, manager of Ward's returned today from Chicago, where he played a prominent part in a conference of the company's store managers and merchandising executives. Mr. Smith was highly commended at the conference for his successful management of Ward's Dixon store and for his ready co-operation in civic enterprises here.

Lower Prices to Continue.
 "There is every indication" Mr. Smith said today, "that values at Ward's stores this summer will be more impressive than ever before. The reason for this fact is two-fold. One is that prices generally are now at the lowest level in many years. The second and most important reason is Montgomery Ward & Co.'s tremendous buying power which generally succeeds in making prices low in Ward's retail stores whether they are low elsewhere or not. Our buyers are doing a wonderful job of taking full advantage of the present market conditions, and there can be only one result... a summer of record-breaking values in every department of the store."

Quality of Merchandise High.
 "These low prices will in no wise entail the slightest sacrifice of style or quality in a single item of our merchandise," Mr. Smith declared. "Ward's has a famous testing laboratory in Chicago where every item sold in our stores undergoes rigid tests. A tire or a washing machine or piece of fabric has to be good to receive the approval of the scientists in this laboratory. And as for style," he added, "our feminine apparel is selected by one of America's most noted style authorities who is in close touch with the latest innovations of the couturiers on the Rue de la Paix. Right now, the Jacket Frock is the most popular of all styles, and its particularly adaptable to all occasions. Our latest shipment of dresses features the Jacket Frock in light and dark colors and combinations. Our styles are equally authentic in every other department from Men's Clothing to Furniture."—Adv.

GOVERNOR WARNS RACKETEERS DAY OF END IS NEAR

Sounds Note Of Housecleaning At Sterling
Last Night

Sterling, Ill., May 9—(AP)—A note of warning for racketeers that "the day of house cleaning, long deferred, is at hand," was sounded by Governor Louis L. Emmerson here last night in an address dedicating Sterling's new municipal coliseum.

The Governor touched on the problem the racketeer and organized crime presents, after predicting that the country "has turned the road and will march on to the point where normal development of our resources and normal operation of our industries will maintain a normal life in the nation."

Pointing out that one of the important factors in the recovery was the great amount of public building that has been done to provide employment, Governor Emmerson declared that continued public works will depend upon "their normal relationship to the needs of the day."

"But when we call a halt in the construction of public works, let us commence the building of a public conscience that will bring to the nation on its hour of peace the same loyal devotion to its fundamental principles, that stirs its soul in the hour of its danger," he said.

"Our greatest need of the past two years has been to build public buildings, new roads, new engineering systems to take up the slack, and at the same time furnish employment. Our greatest need of the next few years will be the building of citizenship."

"One of the phenomena incident to our changed social conditions is the increase in crime that has marked the decade. Crime has been organized on a business-like basis, and causes a total direct loss of an estimated fifteen billion dollars annually."

"Organized crime as we find it in the urban centers is a conspiracy against government, against society and against the home. It must be stamped out, if Democratic government is to continue its existence."

Cause In People
"Such a situation is the product of indifference, now awakening to the menace of such conditions, we are looking around for the cause. It cannot be found in the law itself, or the courts, but in the people of the nation. The real secret of the increase in crime rests in the fact that for years past we have been so busy with our own successes and failures that we have not taken the interest in public affairs necessary to success in government."

"However, changing conditions are bringing a renewed sense of our responsibility, and there is definite indication of a swing backward in the pendulum of unrest. America is less-suffering but it will not submit forever to the whims of racketeers who recognize no obligation either to government or to God. The day of house cleaning has been long deferred but it is at hand."

"Great leadership is impossible without great loyalty. We need both in the United States today. The man who trades his conscience for political preferment stands with the gangster as menace to the cause of free government."

"A vast number of obligations have been placed at the door of government, and willingly accepted, in order that we might progress along reasonable and sane lines, amply protected by community effort, where individuals attempts would be of no avail."

"To bestow these powers, and then relinquish supervision of the manner in which they are exercised, is gambling with human weakness, yet the American people exercise only a superficial authority over their elected public officials. In an awakened understanding of the responsibility of the responsibility of government, a renewed appreciation of government, a performance of public duties, an increased censorship for those officials who fail in their responsibilities, rests the burden of continuance of good government."

"That burden rests not solely upon the shoulders of your executive, legislative and judicial officers; not upon

PALMYRA

Palmyra—Wednesday, May 6, the Palmyra Social Circle met with Mrs. Harry Frederick. The clouds did not seem to be any hindrance as the cars kept coming till 12:15. It was a welcome warmth that greeted the members as they entered from the damp cold air outside. The kitchen buzzed with cooks, the table groaned with its loads of eats, the other rooms were humming with many voices when dinner was announced. A beautiful centerpiece of wild flowers graced the center of the table. Following the dinner a social hour was enjoyed. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Bertha Fredericks and opened with the usual devotion. Thirty-one members answered to roll call with six guests and five children present. Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. Mrs. Cora Brauer reported necklaces as gifts for the Gilbert twins had been purchased and presented. Letters of thanks were read from Mrs. Lena Gilbert and Mrs. Phillips Nurse Dollmeyer phoned an inquiry to the Dixon hospital as to the condition of Mrs. Margaret Book, while the members waited and were glad to hear of her improvement. "Jury By Sunday" Valparaiso Hope Valparaiso, Ind., May 8—(AP)—Forty more talesmen were led today to the question box in the Virgil Kirkland murder trial.

And "a jury before Sunday" was the slogan of court officials.
After the fourth special venire of 85 names was wiped out yesterday making a total of 260 men and women excused or challenged, Judge Grant Crumpecker ordered the jury commissioners to summon 40 more prospective jurors.

The defense still had the panel as court opened but ten of twelve had been questioned already by both sides and have not been challenged. Judge Crumpecker, upon the insistence of Prosecutor John Underwood, abrogated his agreement of two days ago that he would select veniremen deemed qualified to survive questioning after the fourth list was exhausted. Underwood contended the jury commissioners' list would be used until depleted.

The best biography of the spring season is "Noguchi," by Dr. Gustav Eckstein (Harpers), the story of a Japanese bacteriologist who is one of the most pleasingly picturesque figures in the history of science. It is strange that his name is not widely known in America for he spent much of his time here with the Rockefeller Institute.

Hideyo Noguchi died in Africa in he deliberately courted in his search 127 of yellow fever—an act of self-sacrifice. But his dramatic end was no less colorful than his entire career, nor even his childhood.

When but a small child Noguchi fell into a fire and his hand was maimed. Dr. Eckstein, a Cincinnati professor, contends in this book that the grotesque hand was an impelling factor in the moulding of Noguchi's character and personality.

Dr. Eckstein has performed here a labor of love and he has done it well. He not only is entranced by the personality of his subject; he actually resembles the little Jap in physical characteristics. The manner in which the biographer uses his hands in gestures, the squint of his eyes, the mould of his head and face and the toss of his mane-like hair all led relatives of Noguchi to exclaim at the resemblance. Yet when Dr. Eckstein set out to write the biography, he had no idea of Noguchi's personal appearance.

Joe Alex Morris, cable writer for the United Press, reviews "New Russia's Primer" by M. Ilin, published by Houghton-Buffin and chosen for May by the Book of the Month Club. His review follows:

The explanation of Soviet Russia's intricate "life and death" project—the Five Year Industrialization Plan—is simple when told in simple language. And when the pen of propaganda touches upon the dull corners, it becomes almost gaudy with thrills. The transformation is this:
The old school primer, particularly in America, said: "See the Dog. The Dog Sees the Cat."
New Russia's primer says: "See the Great Factories, the Giant Machines, the Vast Lands, the People, We Must Create a Better Life."

M. Ilin's book, translated for America adults by George S. Counts and Lucia P. Lodge, was written for the use of Russian children. It is frankly a book of propaganda as well as a primer and therein lies one of its values, for it shows the depth to which the Communist plan has penetrated, not merely as an industrial project but as a social cultural and everything else project.

But the value of this book is far greater. It is so superior to the ordinary type of American primers that it may well offer lessons to educators. It was written to instill in the school child a love and an appreciation of his country and to stir him to active participation in the work of socialization. To do this the author repeatedly makes comparisons with America, always keeps the explanation of the Five Year Plan in simple language and makes of the whole a fascinating and easy reading narrative filled with potential adventures and great accomplishments in the work of building Soviet Russia.

It is a book of geography, history and society. It even has its problems in mathematics, but the answers are not the ones you expected. More than this it explains the Five-Year Plan, concerning which there have been many mis-statements of fact and misinterpretation by foreign and Russian writers than any one single project ever undertaken.

By RICHARD MASSOCK

New York—Something new in form in the novel has come out of Poland.

"From Day to Day" is its title and it weaves together a novelist's diary and his daily stint of fiction. The author of it is Ferdynand Goedel, said to be famous in his homeland. The central character of Goedel's novel is an author of reputation living in Poland, Stanislaw by name. He is writing an autobiographical novel of his love for a girl, Marusia, whom he met on the Turkestan steppes when he was a prisoner of war.

At the same time Stanislaw is keeping a diary of his present experiences, in which he records the growing isolation from his wife and their relationships with various other characters.
It is a unique and difficult technique, John Galsworthy observes in a foreword. But after a rather mystifying start Goedel carries it off and there is real emotional writing as the apparently artificial story develops into an actual influence on the author Stanislaw.

NOVEL WITHIN NOVEL—Stanislaw, with another prisoner, Felix, was farmed out by their Russian captors who work in the fields of Marusia in Turkestan. Marusia is living on one of her father's farms, away from a difficult stepmother.

The novelist and the girl come to love each other, only to be separated by an old, influential officer who wants Marusia to marry him.

In the revolution Stanislaw escapes to Poland to divorce his wife to marry Marusia.
Back home he finds himself, however inclined to carry on as before, held strongly by his daughter's love. But he has to write the novel of his bucolic interlude to get it out of his thoughts, and there is a gradual estrangement from his wife, with his shadow, Felix, involved.

After a tragic, involuntary affair with the adoring poetess wife of a friend, Stanislaw is in an intolerable position. He sends for Marusia, but she dies on the train to Poland and only their son arrives. His wife, forgiving, the situation is worked out, as in novel.

WAR AND AFTER—Another novel grown out of the war is "The Pure in Heart," by Franz Werfel. It is a lengthy, philosophically inclined work on "the problem of the spiritual man in a non-spiritual universe."

Its central figure, a Dr. Ferdinand R., is in the dual role of par-

SULLEN MINERS IN EVARTS FOREBODE RENEWED BATTLES

But the Presence Of State Guardsmen Dampens Fighting Ardo

By FOSTER EATON
United Press Staff Correspondent

Evarts, Ky., May 9.—(UP)—Sullen groups of unemployed miners joined on street corners and in their union meeting place here today, while 400 National Guardsmen camped in the battle-scarred foothills of the southeastern Kentucky coal fields, both silently anticipating the renewal of disorders which already have claimed five lives.

Presence of the guardsmen, under command of Col. Daniel M. Carrell of the 138th Field Artillery, has had a quieting effect upon the restless miners, but there was a distinct air of brooding trouble caused by deep-rooted animosities.

Factions are aligned in two groups — business men and mine owners, who demand peace at all costs, and unemployed miners, who demand recognition of their union. The trouble grew out of efforts of the United Mine Workers of America to organize the mines here. Thus far, not an owner has granted the union recognition.

City officials, Police Chief Asa Cusick and Assistant Chief A. L. Benson have aligned themselves openly on the side of the miners and publicly blamed the "mine guards" for the disorders.

Sheriff Johnson Henry Blair of Harlan, the county seat, while denying that he is affiliated with the miners, has aligned himself with the miners, blaming what he terms "reactionary" and "left wing" union workers for the troubles.

Responsibility Uncertain
However, no one is quite certain who is responsible for the recent shooting which took the lives of three deputy sheriffs and a citizen when they were ambushed, nor the street battle which caused the death of another deputy sheriff, nor why the bitter animosities have arisen.

Many public officials deny the charges by Blair and Governor Flem D. Sampson that Communists "were at the bottom of it all."

Col. Carrell emphatically denied that he had found any evidence of Communist activities.

Mine owners blame the ill feelings on the depression and the adverse freight rates, which they insisted made any further concessions out of the question.

Some of the mines are averaging two and one-half days work a week. One miner expressed the opinion of the entire group when he said:

"If I'm going to starve I'd rather do it sitting right here on this railroad track than work for the privilege."

Rumors of new outbreaks and threats of violence, some alarming even to the citizens of Evarts, were numerous today, and formed the basis of the idlers' conversations. In the meantime, guardsmen paced up and down the streets alert and ready to put down any trouble.

Former Dixon Man Expands Business

A recent issue of the Whiteside Sentinel of Morrison, contained the following article which concerns a former Dixon man:

Leo Blass has signed a lease to rent the Viner building on east Main street for his clothing store, the Blass Clothing Co. The new location is just across the street from the present store, and the move will be made on Aug. 1, Mr. Blass said today. This change has been contemplated for sometime, as the present building is too small for the best accommodations. The Viner building will give a room two feet wider and 50 feet longer and in addition has a balcony.

A. V. Viner, owner of the new location, will make some repairs and will paint the interior and the front of the building. It was last rented to the Bradley-Boynett Co. which closed out their store in Morrison. Mr. Blass will move his fixtures from the present place to the Viner building and the present fixtures will be taken out. The Blass Clothing Co. formerly the Curtis-Blass Co., has been in the present building since 1925.

Dixon Boy Named In National Assn.

Bob Reynolds, the son of Mr. and James M. Reynolds, 1037 Highland Ave., has just been notified of his selection for membership in the League of Curtis Salesmen, an honor organization maintained by The Curtis Publishing Co. for boys who sell its publications.

Admittance to this organization depends upon regular school attendance and a record of efficient service to customers. Through this training teachers very generally report that boys gain a sense of responsibility that tends to make schooling more real to them.

As Bob's friends know, he is developing a sense of self-confidence and an ability to make decisions quickly. That is one reason he is proud to show his badge of membership to his friends and is now looking forward to advancement to the next higher degree in the organization.

SOCIETY GIVEN OLD RELICS

Topeka, Kan.—(UP)—Rare old relics of the Shawnee Mission have been donated to the Kansas Historical Society by William F. Horn of Topeka, whose family was among the early settlers near the mission just outside Kansas City, Mo. The society expected to send the relics to the mission, two buildings of which are now owned by the state and preserved as a historical shrine.

PAW PAW NEWS

Paw Paw—On Saturday afternoon there was an auto parked on Illinois street in the city of Mendota in which there was a female lion, a bear and a large dog, each tied with a heavy chain to the sides of the rear of the interior of the auto which was incased with steel plates. There was no partition between where the beasts were tied and the driver's seat. In charge of the auto when being questioned was a woman, who evidently was the wife of the animal trainer. She said her husband's name was Harwood and he had these animals trained. The lion she claimed came from South Africa, the dog was a Kaffir air-dale and the bear from Pennsylvania. The lion was eleven months old and the bear two years. They were enroute to Denver.

In the Herald-Examiner of the same day was a story which without doubt connects these people and the animals with the accident which occurred in Cincinnati on May 1st. This man Harwood, gave addresses in the schools through the country on natural history in which he used these beasts. They were supposed to be well trained and harmless. In one school the animals were tied in the basement. A little six year old girl was interested in them and did not seem to be afraid. The woman who was with the animals assured the janitor there was no danger but suddenly the lion made a lunge and struck the girl a blow with its paw knocking the girl down and fracturing her skull. The janitor grabbed the lion at the scuff of the neck and held it until the trainer arrived. The girl's face was lacerated terribly by the claws of the beast.

After the attack the trainer hustled the animals into the auto and with the woman hurried away. A search was instituted for them by the police. Without doubt this is the same party who was giving these lectures in the schools.

Hoover Will Spend Week End At Work

Washington, May 9.—(AP)—President Hoover intended today to deal with facts and not fish at his Rapidan, Virginia, camp where generally he finds recreation over the weekend.

Instead of whipping a line over the Rapidan river, Mr. Hoover had arranged conferences with Secretary Hurley and the heads of various branches of the War Department. Special attention was to be given to non-military activities of the department.

In addition to President and Mrs. Hoover and Secretary and Mrs. Hurley, the list of guests for the week-end included Assistant Secretary and Mrs. Payne, General MacArthur, chief of Staff, Major General Mosely, assistant chief of staff, the Chief or Army Engineers and Mrs. Brown, the Quartermaster General and Mrs. DeWitt; Chairman of the House Appropriations committee, Earle Kinsley, Republican National Committeeman from Vermont, and Mrs. Kinsley, Theodore Joslin and Mrs. Joslin and Lawrence Richy.

The study of War Department problems was the first of a series to be held at the Rapidan on policies affecting various governmental branches.

Briand May Become French President

Paris, May 9.—(AP)—Aristide Briand, whose foreign policies were vindicated by a smashing vote in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday, today declined to be stamped into declaring himself a candidate for presidency of the republic.

Shortly after noon he received a delegation from the Chamber which asked that he make a formal declaration of his candidacy, but he declined for the time being to make any statement of his position. It was understood that he told the delegation considerations of courtesy made it necessary that he await the action of various groups in the Senate which will not meet before Monday. The presidential election is on Wednesday.

Some of Briand's friends believe he may not make a formal declaration of his candidacy at all. They think he wants the support of the right and center groups as well as of the left so that his election, if it should come, would be a real expression of the will of all the people.

YOUNG GUN MAN WANTS TO "GET IT OVER WITH"

Two Gun Crowley Urges Officers To Hasten His Trial

New York, May 9.—(UP)—Francis (Two-Gun) Crowley, held for killing Policeman Frederick Hirsch last Monday, asked authorities today to "get it over with, quick."

"What's the use of foolin' around with a trial, and all that bunk?" he asked, petulantly, from his hospital cot where he is recovering from bullet wounds suffered in the siege and fight that resulted in his capture Thursday. "If I'm going to burn it, I might as well be right away."

Just as one girl's tip was responsible for his arrest, the testimony of another is counted upon by the state to be the strongest link in his prosecution.

A blonde dancer, Billie Dunne, in whose West 90th Street apartment, Crowley and Rudolph "Fat" Durringer were captured, was responsible for her former sweetheart's arrest, police said. Crowley telephoned her at the apartment "to get out and make room for a regular girl." Police got the information from the dance hall where the Dunne girl works as a hostess.

Crowley's comment to his guards as he was being taken to jail was: "you ought to give a badge to Billie Dunne. She's a cop now."

Girl Main Witness

Helen Walsh, 16, who was with him in the bullet and gas spattered building when 200 police surrounded it Thursday, will be the main witness at his trial for the murder of Frederick Hirsch, Nassau county policeman. Miss Walsh was in an automobile with Crowley when Hirsch was shot.

The Walsh girl is being held as a witness. She was the star witness in the grand jury chambers yesterday when a murder indictment was returned against Crowley.

She revealed that Crowley forced her to write notes during the police siege. Most of the notes told of her love for Crowley. District Attorney Edwards of Nassau county said the girl had expressed fear and hate of Crowley since her arrest.

Durringer, taken to the Bronx, was indicted for the murder of Virginia Brannen, Bangor, Me., girl who worked here as a dance hall hostess. Police say Crowley and Durringer took the girl for an automobile ride, but Durringer confessed that he alone killed her with Crowley's revolver. Jealousy was his motive.

Defendants are checking the story of Salvatore Russo, a witness now in custody, that Durringer killed Miss Brannen for $300, paid him by another man.

FALL RESTS HIS CASE IN HANDS OF HIS FRIENDS

Has Faith They Will Aid Him Escaping Term In Prison

Three Rivers, N. M., May 9.—(UP)—Albert B. Fall, former Secretary of the Interior, has faith that his friends will succeed in aiding him through a penitentiary term.

He finally has quit fighting the verdict that he accepted a bribe in the oil lease case. Now his friends are working to obtain clemency for him in order to keep him from serving a sentence they fear might prove fatal as he is ill. He has been sentenced to a year in prison and fined $100,000.

"I am leaving any future action in the case entirely in the hands of my friends. They were the ones who urged me to quit my court fight," Fall said.

"I don't know what steps they are taking. I know, however, that they are busy for I read in the newspapers about the circulation of petitions for presidential action. I have confidence in them."

The many letters that came from his friends urged him to quit his court fight, he revealed. These letters pointed out that his family should be spared further hardships in the fight. The plea to consider his family brought the decision not to appeal his conviction to the Supreme Court, he said.

Gets Many Letters

Fall enjoys re-reading these expressions of encouragement and of faith in his innocence. Many of the writers are westerners who knew him when he served in New Mexico territorial and state offices.

One was from an old political enemy who sent a copy of a letter he had addressed to President Hoover urging clemency.

Visitors come to the ranch house also to see him and when his health permits, he chats with them. While some come merely to visit, others, such as Spanish-Americans and Indians living in the vicinity, come for advice as to their homesteads. Fall is still "Judge" or "Senator" or "Secretary" to them.

Whether his friends are endeavoring to obtain a presidential pardon or a suspended sentence, Fall does not know.

His family believes that if mercy is shown him so that he can be freed of the worry of the case, his life would be spared to them a few years more.

Persons from all parts of the country, most of whom he does not know, write Fall to express their confidence in him.

"We always acknowledge these letters. I send part of each morning answering them," Mrs. C. C. Chase, Fall's daughter, said.

COURTS TO AIR SHORTAGES IN CHI. TREASURY

Cermak Wants to Know What Became Of Over $40,000 In Cash

Chicago, May 9.—(UP)—How $40,000 disappeared from Chicago's city treasury to be replaced with "I. O. U.'s" may be aired in the courts, it appeared today, unless blame is fixed elsewhere and the funds returned.

Officials behind the investigation, including Mayor Anton J. Cermak, announced "that matter must be cleared up, if only to satisfy ourselves."

Meanwhile, a grand jury will hear testimony of James Kearns, who discovered the discrepancies shortly after he succeeded August B. Singer as City Treasurer. It was planned also to summon former Treasurer Singer and Charles S. Peterson.

Another witness expected to testify is Chief Cashier Earl G. Bingham who was in the Treasurer's office for nearly 20 years.

Each of them disclaims any responsibility in the affair. Singer said the shortage did not occur during his regime and Peterson said he had nothing to do with it. Bingham was noncommittal.

Charles S. Deneen, attorney for Peterson and Singer, pointed out that shortages are covered by bonds and "the surety companies will make good the losses, if any."

Mayor Cermak has refused to divulge the names on the I. O. U.'s given for salary advances and "loans" from the treasury. It is rumored that aldermen, city employees and a few judges were involved.

The mayor said he believed in making loans with city funds had been "a good old Chicago custom for years" borrowers gave personal notes. He charged that the present shortage was due to practices of officials during the reign of Mayor William Thompson, his predecessor.

CRIME STUDENTS ARE BAFFLED BY MURDER MYSTERY

N. U. Teacher Submits Test To His Class In Detection

Chicago, May 9.—(UP)—Thirty-four real detectives and one society girl brought all the tricks they have learned in the Northwestern University crime detection school into play today trying to solve a "murder mystery" prepared by Calvin Goddard, Director, as a quiz in the new famous course.

Although the detectives, who come from police departments all over the country, and Priscilla Hildebrand, Evanston debutante, who is taking the course for the thrill, worked all afternoon and into the night on the "tailor-made" murder, no progress was reported today.

For anyone who cares to match his wits against those of the students, here is the "crime" and the clues:

The body of John Doe (a suit stuffed with straw) is found at 9:30 P. M. on the floor of Goddard's laboratory. He has been shot through the chest. Nearby is a pistol with one cartridge discharged also a bottle of gin.

As the detectives appear, a man who says and proves by credentials that he is Charles Wilson, one of Goddard's operatives, is leaving the laboratory. He is not held.

The student-detectives ascertain that there are finger prints on the gin bottle but they prove to be the victim's. One keen-eyed student notes that Doe was fully clothed except for shoes, which lay near the body.

Wilson is taken into custody. Under a "truth serum" test he reveals that he had been in the laboratory to get a bottle of gin (he had a date). It appeared that there must have been two bottles of gin in the laboratory.

Two other assistants of Goddard suddenly Goddard picks up the murder weapon and confronts Capt. Seth Ward, one of the assistant's with the accusation that the gun is his. Ward admits it but points out that he has several guns within access. Ward and the other assistant, Allen Wescott, advance alibis apparently airtight.

As a climax Goddard announces that a bit which had been on his desk for a year had just in another murder case is gone.

Amateurs may pick up the story there.

The 34 professionals and Miss Hildebrand haven't succeeded yet so the field is open.

THE MELODY GIRL

by RUTH DEWEY GROVES

AUTHOR OF "The Husband Hunter, etc."

"Oh!" Beryl stammered, "I'm sorry."

THE anteroom in which Beryl waited was more in the nature of a central hall at the top floor of a spiral building than a mere part of a suite. Through the many doors people came and went in varying degrees of preoccupation. But all seemed to have one thing in common—an utter obliviousness to her.

She sat quietly withdrawn in a handsome but uncomfortable chair and watched them with keen interest, particularly the gorgeous woman who came in with her chauffeur, the latter carrying a pet dog, and a maid as Gallic as Paris.

In a few minutes the maid reappeared and went at once to a door opposite where Beryl was sitting. She was careless in closing the door behind her and Beryl could see, through the crack she left, the remarkable quickness with which she extracted a cigar case from a pocket in her smart black uniform, drew out a cigar, and applied a match to it. She puffed it greedily and Beryl guessed that the indulgence was a stolen pleasure.

Then, after the maid had crushed out the burning end in an ash tray, Beryl saw her hold the cigar case to her mouth in the manner of one using a throat spray. Hurriedly thrusting it back into her pocket she came out of the room, leaving the door wide open behind her, and went to rejoin her mistress.

The room exposed to Beryl's view was a dainty sitting room. She was charmed by it and decided to have a closer look at its perfection. But she'd never seen anything like it before and admitted she'd need a postgraduate course in interior decorating ever to think of doing one similar.

From the white and gold mantel she turned to a small Florentine piano and found herself unable to resist the desire to run her fingers over the keys. The tone of the instrument delighted her. She sat down on the rose and blue striped cushion of the bench and began to play very softly.

Always, when she sang consciously, she sang to an audience. Mostly it was an audience of one—her father as her fancy pictured him. He'd have liked her music, she thought, and just for him she'd learned a tender dirge or two. Now she sang them with her head on one side and a dreamy light in her soft gray eyes.

PRESENTLY the dreamy light faded in tears but she sang on, her voice a bit choked, yet vibrant.

"You and me too," Beryl admitted. Then she thought of what he had said about hastiness. "Do you hire singers?" she asked directly.

"Sometimes. Are you sorry you're not a singer?"

"Yes," Beryl answered simply, "but no one knows it except you and my father."

"Well, I'm not sorry—not if you turn out to be what I think you are."

Again Beryl stared at him in demand of an explanation. "I think you are an entertainer," he told her.

"Now will you please play and sing for yourself?" the alert young man asked her with a casual friendliness that helped greatly to put her at her ease. "The same thing you were singing when Mr. Barnhoff heard you."

A hint of stage fright appeared in Beryl's expression. It brought a soothing, "You've never done this before have you?" from the young man.

Beryl shook her head. "Well, just take it easy while you warm up a little. Mr. Barnhoff won't be listening in for a while."

"That's all right," Beryl repeated doubtfully.

"Yes, since you're here at the studio it won't be any trouble for any of us. I've a free moment to give to it. Come along, and try not to forget what you were singing just now and how you were singing it."

"Oh, but I can't," Beryl protested. "I'm waiting for my sister. She's having an air test—you sent for her, you know, Irene Everett. She's a soprano."

The man shook his head. "Then I didn't send for her," he declared emphatically. "The only soprano I care for is Jenny Lind."

"Her teacher has great hopes for her," Beryl boasted.

"I see—the teacher arranged the test. Quite often they turn up good material for us—and quite often—but come along. I want to hear what you can do. I'll see that your sister is informed of your whereabouts."

Beryl began to feel excited as she was conducted to an office-like room down a corridor. There an alert looking young man was introduced to her. She left that room for still another. The man whose name she did not yet know remained behind. This time she was led to a room that looked like a drapery display to her, or a stage set to exhibit a microphone. A piano stood beside it and Beryl was seated there.

yet. He had something else to do."

Beryl's hands hovered uncertainly over the piano keys. "You're scared," she said to herself scornfully. "Beryl Borden, you're scared!"

In self reproach she began to play with a stern determination. The resultant sounds displeased her more than her stage fright had done.

"That's no good," she said aloud and stopped. The helpful young man came over and stood beside her.

"They say that Kreisler always plays to his wife—no matter how many people are listening to him. You know what I mean—and I'd say you must have someone like that—a boy friend, perhaps."

Beryl smiled up at him, then looked away. "Thank you, Mr. Leonard," she said softly. And to herself: "I was falling down on you, wasn't I. Old Scout? Well, now you listen and I'll sing—just for you."

SHE did not fully recapture the mood that Mr. Barnhoff had found her in, but she sang tenderly. Leonard absent-mindedly nodded approval time and again. Beryl forgot his presence there but she did not forget that at some time during her singing Mr. Barnhoff would listen

Rummage Sale
The date of May 23 has been set by the Library Board for the Rummage Sale. Bring anything you have that is saleable to the Group building at that time. Notify the librarian, Miss Clara Lahman, if you have articles for the sale that you cannot deliver. The rummage sale proved to be very successful last year. It is, after all, a splendid way to get rid of a lot of articles that you do not want, and the other person does want, and then, too, it is helping one of the most worthy institutions we have in the town, the library. One can hardly imagine the real good our own library has done in our town. Many a family would be deprived of real good reading were it not for the library. Just think of having two good books a week to read for less than twenty cents. Fifty cents a year, to become a member of the library which entitles you to two books each week, book days are Wednesday and Saturday. A boost for the library is always a boost in the right way. When cleaning house just put aside this, that and the other article that will bring something and give it to the Rummage sale to help buy new books. Get the "library habit."

W. C. T. U. Notes

Mrs. Mary Wolf spoke from the lecture of Billy Sunday, which was given in Dixon last month, while Mrs. Ella Miller gave a talk from the evangelist Billy Sunday's lecture that was given in Rockford. The two ladies surely added greatly to the program and all enjoyed hearing messages from the famous evangelist. At the close of the afternoon, Mrs. Holley served refreshments.

"They say that man is mighty,
He governs lands and sea;
He wields a mighty scepter
Over lesser powers that be;
But mightier power and stronger
Man from his throne has hurled;
For the hand that rocks the cradle
Is the hand that rules the world."

Will Rebuild

The Mt. Morris College which suffered a severe loss in a fire April 12 will be rebuilt as a result of a reconstruction program formulated Friday evening in the Mount City, at a joint meeting of the College trustees and the general education board of the Church of the Brethren. Plans include the extensive remodeling of two buildings and the construction of two new structures. It was decided that an endowment of $225,000 for the construction of the buildings, and a similar sum for proposed equipment and landscaping will be necessary. Plans call for the remodeling of Old Sandstone, the college library and science and the Administration building, both of which were badly damaged by flames.

A girls dormitory and other more constructed opposite the men's dormitory which was destroyed by the fire. The site of the old gym in which the fire started and which also was completely burned, will be used as tennis courts.

Woman's Club Notes

The Woman's Club met Monday, May 4, with Mrs. E. R. Buck with a large attendance. Roll call was "Needs of Our Community for the Coming Ten Years," and resulted in a variety of responses, some rather abstract in nature and other more definite, yet none being impossible of accomplishment by the cooperation of the community as a whole. Some of those mentioned were: an accredited high school with vocational courses; a sewer system, smoother streets, an abatement of the dust nuisance, a good clean factory; some line of development which would encourage our young people to stay in the home town, and provide employment for those needing it; a ladies rest room; signboards at the Highway entrances to the town, which would tell travelers the name of the village; a ten year program of tree planting which would help to continue and increase the natural beauty of the community.

Mrs. W. L. Reigle, recently elected president of the club for the coming year, announced her appointments of Department Chairmen as follows, Fine Arts, Mrs. F. J. Blocher; Civics, Miss Clara Lahman; American Homes, Mrs. Leland Hanson; Community Service, Mrs. W. L. Moore; Conservation, Mrs. Elizabeth Durkes Gardens, Mrs. Grace Breunier. By a unanimous vote of those present, it was decided that the club stands ready to co-operate with the American Legion Auxiliary in the sending of supplies and gifts to our disabled soldiers. Announcement was made of the District Convention of Woman's Club to be held in Dixon, May 7 and 8, also the State convention to be held in the Hotel Sherman, Chicago, May 19, 20 and 21, and the president urged that as many as possible attend these conventions.

The program of the afternoon was then presented by the American Homes Department with Mrs. E. R. Buck as chairman and proved unusually interesting and delightful. The first number was a playlet, "Please Pass the Cream," and was presented by two of the club members, Mrs. Leland Hanson and Mrs. Wilbur Breunier. This portrayed an interesting episode in an American home and was thoroughly enjoyed. The came the principal event of the afternoon, a talk on "Better Value in Home Making," by Miss Margaret DeVoi, who is instructor in Home Economics at Mt. Morris College. Miss DeVoi's talk was full of potent suggestions to home-makers as to how to get the very most out of their jobs and also how to put the most into them, in the light of present day modern conditions and needs.

The program was brought to a close by a "Music Memory Contest," given by the chairman of the Fine Arts Department, Mrs. F. J. Blocher and her daughter, Miss Helen. Ten different selections were played, each person writing the names of the selections on a slip of paper furnished them. At the close it was found that the most nearly correct had been submitted by Mrs. Harry Kint, and she accordingly received the prize, a blooming plant.

Mrs. Buck and daughter, Miss Lorena, served refreshments and the group separated, feeling that this had been one of the most enjoyable and worth-while meetings of the club.

DAILY HEALTH

The desire to sleep, particularly when it comes at the time when one regularly goes to bed, is normal and consistent with the maintenance of health.

When the desire to sleep comes on without apparent cause at any particular time and when it is associated with a pronounced or sudden loss of muscular power, which may cause the person to fall, it is a pathologic condition and as such demands careful attention by physicians.

The recurring desire to sleep without apparent cause is called narcolepsy; sudden loss of muscular tone and power which causes a patient to fall it cataplexy. The cause of this condition is not definitely known. It has been treated by all sorts of remedies, which in indication that a specific remedy has not yet been found. It has been treated by metal suggestion and by the use of various glandular materials, but thus far none of them has been found to be definitely of virtue.

Quite recently workers have reported some interesting cases which seem to be benefited by a new remedy, so far as modern civilization is concerned, but developed hundreds of years ago by the Chinese.

A man 30 years of age found that he fell asleep on all occasions, sometimes while standing on the street and talking to friends. If the attack occurred while he was on a street, he usually leaned against something, but had two accidents from leaning against automobiles which moved away. At first he slept only for three or four minutes, but later as long as half an hour. He was given the new remedy and reported considerable improvement from its use.

A boy 11 years of age had irresistible sleep and was finally dismissed from school because other numbers of his school imitated his behavior. He would sleep 15 to 30 minutes at a time.

A woman aged 44 had a tendency to fall asleep at church and at social gatherings, which is not in a way an abnormal tendency. Later, however, she developed loss of initiative and on several occasions had fallen asleep while standing at the cook stove.

In each of these cases there was loss of muscular power when the emotions were stimulated. Five out of six people who were treated with the new remedy seemed to be definitely relieved of their irresistible desire to sleep, and further study indicates that at least a definite method of control for this extraordinary disease has been discovered.

SCHOOL INVESTIGATION

Chicago, May 8—(AP)—Legislative inquiry into the management of the Chicago public schools was in prospect today.

State Senator A. S. Cuthbertson, chairman of the Senate subcommittee on education, which came here to hold public hearings on two pending bills affecting Chicago schools, asked that the Board of Education furnish the committee with a thorough audit by an expert to be named by the Senators.

Superintendent William J. Bogan and nine members of the board had gathered to ask the Senators to name an investigator, and Senator Cuthbertson announced it would be done within three days.

ROCK ISLANDER SUICIDES

Chicago, May 8—(AP)—Richard Fraser, 34, believed to have come here from Rock Island, Ill., was asphyxiated yesterday in his rented room. At the inquest today witnesses said they believed he had relatives in Louisville and Hopkinsville, Ky. The Coroner's jury reached a verdict of suicide while temporarily insane.
